A welcome move by TN Government - Plan to build elevated corridor on OMR

(Old Mahabalipuram Road)- News in Times of India, Chennai Edition 2.4.2013

A four lane elevated corridor on OMR with the existing six lane is planned to be completed in two phases. The total length of the elevated corridor will be 45 KM from Chennai to Mahabalipuram when completed, will be the longest elevated corridor in the country. The Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu announced the above plan for implementation The design for the corridor is done by US based Engineering firm Louie Berger Group.

The above project when completed will increase appreciably the market value of Green Peace Site and it is high time the plot owners joined the Association as members and support the initiatives being taken by the Association to give a face lift to the Green Peace Cottage Garden Site.
